Environmental Health object to the granting of this license under the prevention of public nuisance, subject to the following added to their operating schedule:

- Garden rear exit to be closed at 21:00hrs.
- Rear external areas to close at 21:00hrs.
- Clear signage (inside and out) to remind patrons to be respectful to the neighbours whilst on and leaving the premises.
- Staff to assist the quiet dispersal of patrons from the front of the premises.
- Staff to monitor smoking areas to ensure patrons are not causing a disturbance to nearby residential premises.

Reasons for objection and the proposed change to the operating schedule:

The council have received a significant number of noise complaints concerning this premises from several separate households.

Our out of hours officers have witnessed noise deemed to be unreasonable on four occasions from this premises in the one year that we have been investigating. There have been other calls to our out of hours office when our service has either been unavailable, or we have otherwise failed to witness the noise. The noise witnessed has been from amplified music being played in the rear garden, and also loud voices from patrons both in the rear garden and on the street to the front of the premises. We have not established the presence of Statutory Noise Nuisance.

We feel that the suggested conditions represent a compromise, acknowledging the mixed domestic and commercial area and requiring a level of concession from all parties. Putting restraints on the use of the outdoor areas and rear gate access will minimise the impact to neighbouring residents, while still allowing the business to function effectively.

Patrons' behaviour should be actively monitored by members of staff and appropriate action taken to prevent any adverse impact to neighbouring properties. Noise created by operations at the premises will still need to be reasonable within this framework and any subsequent complaints of noise will be investigated in accordance with the provisions of the Environmental Protection Act 1990. The license can also be called in for a review.

I wish to object to the licence application (number PR-202310-95529) for IOH Deli (formally Ivy's of Hythe). My objection is based on my concerns that this licence will increase the possibility of public nuisance for the many dwellings nearby, including my own.

I am mainly concerned about the noise nuisance as this was a problem previously with this establishments original licence (PR202107-69439).

With this new application, the timings for opening and sale of alcohol have been increased. This is unacceptable for residents of the High Street and the streets surrounding.

There have been many occasions previously where noise has caused issues for local residents and these incidents have been well documented with the Environmental Health department and Licensing department. This documentation includes evidence obtained and visits from the out of hours officers.

The noise level has been excessive and intrusive. If you then factor in the frequency, it will become unbearable. This noise nuisance does not just include what can be heard from the back of the building (from the garden) but also from the front of the building in the main high street when customers are leaving/socialising. This raises concerns for the possibility of low level disorder.

Whilst I have no objection to the applicant having a licence to serve alcohol, I think given the location of the property and its close proximity to many residential homes, it would be unfair for those residents to be subjected to the inevitable noise that arises from customers intoxicated by alcohol, as well as the music that goes along with that. Therefore restricting the timings on the sale of alcohol/opening would be more appropriate for this establishment.

I would be grateful if the Licensing department would consider the points I have raised in my objection to this application.

The Ivy's of Hythe development from a cafe to a pub/music venue over the past two years has transformed a previously quiet residential back street.

Houses in Bartholomew Street, Upper Malthouse Hill and Hillside Street can no longer enjoy the peace of their gardens at the weekends due to loud, live music, and customer noise reverberating off the close buildings to annoy many people in the area. These evenings at the Ivy often conclude with inebriated customers spilling out of the newly formed rear entrance onto a dark, unpoliced Bartholomew Street/Upper Malthouse Hill junction causing a public nuisance. In the past, fights have broken out accompanied by high volume, foul language arguments. The quiet, safe road of largely retired folk, feel intimidated when accessing their front door, in some cases, only feet from the cafe/pub's property.

Complaints about noise and unruly behaviour have already been made, but appear to have gone unheeded.

The provision of late-night refreshment will only encourage late night drinking, bringing further disorderly behaviour from customers who have already visited other drinking venues, and litter to a street not cleaned by the council on a regular basis.

Extending the licence will only extend the misery further and allow the applicant to trade, potentially, past eleven o'clock and to midnight two days a week. Customer noise, incidental music and anti-social behaviour will become a regular feature of living in this formerly peaceful area, - the reason why many moved here in the first place. No doubt further applications will be made in due course to extend the hours and frequency of live performances making living here intolerable. The location of the premises is inappropriate for this type of business.

I live very close to the café/restaurant in this application. I am close enough to hear the music played in the garden during the summer months. It is quite annoying, but I have not yet felt a need to complain, as it is not all the time, and seemed to be controlled to finish at a reasonable time in the evening.

But now that I see a license to extend the opening hours has been applied for, I am concerned that this will also extend musical activities in the future, be it live bands or incidental music.

And I worry that with the consumption of alcohol later into the evening, there is potential for people leaving the premises to create a public nuisance in my street and the streets around. This will not just be at weekends either, as the weekday closing proposed is 23.00/23.30.

The cafe has a rear entrance/exit, so it will not be just the high street that has people spilling out late into the night, which, being a high street, you would expect, but into the narrow streets behind.

The application includes a 'Provision of Late Night Refreshment'. This has the potential to create more disorder around the rear exit and surrounding streets. I often have to leave early for work on weekends, as well as weekdays, so this is already a nuisance to me.

What started as a small café, has extended into a bar/restaurant, a live music venue, and now potentially a late-night bar.

I would like to raise some objections to the licence application - PR202310-95529 IOH Deli formally known as Ivy's of Hythe.

The main shop front of Ivy's is on the High Street, the shops on both sides have residential flats above them. The garden is to the rear, directly on Bartholomew St which is a quiet, residential street with private houses, apartments, flats and a large retirement home. Ivy's garden is therefore surrounded by people's homes, bedrooms etc.

There are three main issues:

1. Recorded music. Canned music is played more or less all day in good weather, regardless of occupancy. It is of a level to be perfectly audible at the front of my house. I now have to live my life with a constant soundtrack of pop music coming across to me from Ivy's and I consider this to be detrimental to the enjoyment of my home. Before Ivy's opened I could sit on the small patio outside the front of my house and read a book, talk with a friend or just be at peace. This simple enjoyment of my home has now been taken away from me.

2. Live music. The live music from Ivy's is amplified to quite a high level and, although Ivy's 'promise' to control it when complaints are made, it always reverts back to the high level. Even at lower levels the sound is still intrusive, and even with windows closed the music is clearly audible in every room in my home. Live music is not essential for a deli garden and Ivy's should acknowledge the fact that this has been causing considerable distress to many of the surrounding neighbours and just stop.

3. Anti social behaviour. All too often there is shouting and hooting from people in the garden who have had a little too much to drink and want to let off some steam. In my opinion this is inappropriate for this residential area which is also in a conservation zone. Ivy's are unable (or unwilling) to control the clients, especially around closing time. After all, the more the customers drink the more money Ivy's make.

The council have witnessed some of these events and there is a file containing complaints with Mr Daniel Stone, the council's environmental and protection specialist.

In conclusion I believe that the noise from Ivy's constitutes a Statutory Nuisance under the Environmental Protection Act of 1990 and a restriction should be put in place to stop both recorded and live music being played in the garden. Additionally, the garden should close at a reasonable time (ie 9pm) to ensure that the surrounding community do not have to put up with the loud, drunken behaviour of a handful of people every weekend.

We wish to object to the licence application number (PR202310-95529) for the IOH Deli formally known as Ivy's of Hythe.

Since Aug 2022, the neighbours in the vicinity of Ivy's (up and to including North Road) have been subject to weekend after weekend of excessive noise from the playing of amplified music on Friday and Saturday evenings and on occasion on Sunday afternoons. This has also been compounded by an elevated level of noise generated by the patrons on these and other occasion. Coupled with this has been a pattern of low-level intimidation from Mr Dunlop over a period of months and whenever complaints have been made, he has made his thoughts on the complainants clear in no uncertain terms.

All the above activity is well documented in the file that the council holds on the months of feedback from both neighbours and more importantly, the council's own Out of Hours officers who have witnessed the activity on several occasions.

The new licence application is looking to extend the hours beyond those in place prior to Ivy's being put into liquidation and the request is inappropriate and given the information above and we wish to object to the application.

We are all in favour of a thriving high street and have no issue with a licence to sell alcohol inside but the sale of alcohol in the garden and the playing of any form of amplified music is not appropriate. Our suggestion would be the licencing hours currently in place for the TEN licences be carried forward as the new licence.

Finally, we understand that Mr Dunlop is saying that he is extending the garden area of Ivys's into the garden of the adjoining properties. If this is the case, it will only further exacerbate the problems with noise and make it even more imperative that a sensible approach to the licence is taken.

I am objecting to the application number PR-20231095529 for IOH Deli, previously known as Ivys Of Hythe.

The level of noise coming from the garden of the premises in recent times has been intrusive and has impacted negatively on the quality of the lives of the surrounding neighbours, myself included. The proposed opening hours are an increase to those that have been suffered to date which is unacceptable and will only serve to worsen the problem. The disturbances caused by the premises have been well documented with Environmental Health.

The applicant's argument seems to be that the neighbours should not have purchased a property close to the High Street and a licenced premises. The reality is that we all knew our houses were in close proximity to the High Street. The licenced premises came later. Had it done so in a respectful and orderly fashion it would be well supported by its neighbours. It did not. Instead it came with complete disregard to its neighbours who have had to suffer unacceptably loud live and piped music during unsociable hours, intoxicated customers who inevitably become loud and on occasion, disorderly. The proposed lengthening of the licenced hours will only serve to exasperate the intolerable situation which has been created by the premises. This is unacceptable and unfair to the neighbouring residents who simply wish to enjoy their homes as they once did, in a peaceful and comfortable fashion.

We write to make representations in respect of the application by Ivy's of Hythe for a licence.

We are neighbours that are and have been affected by the loud amplification and projection of music from the Ivy's garden and we do not support the application to extend this to even later. We are unsure how the licence to play such loud music from the garden was approved in the first place; we were not aware of any notices such as the notice that has been published in respect of the current application.

The reasons for our concern if the application is to be granted are as follows:

1. The music is played not on the High Street as the owners appear to suggest but in the back garden of the property which is on Bartholemew St. In fact, the entrance to the garden is on Bartholemew St and their bar operates from Bartholemew St.

2. The music is played at levels so loud that it is clearly heard some 2 roads away inside our property on Hillside Street. It is, not, therefore, properly to be described as background music. It is much more akin to a live concert.

3. The music is projected into the garden away from the High Street and Ivy's building carrying it very far up the hill. Our sister (/in-law) can often hear it on North Road.

4. We are young professionals who often start work early even on weekend mornings and if the music were allowed to resemble a night club until as late as midnight this would have a very detrimental effect on our mental and physical health through lack of sleep.

5. We did not and never have chosen to live on the High Street, where the business is registered and should happily operate. The fact is, it operates on Bartholemew Street instead, which is a residential street. We are not aware that any other businesses can or do play such loud music on Bartholemew Street.

6. The licence would set an extremely dangerous precedent. What if each of the High Street businesses that have gardens on Bartholemew Street were given similar licences and each started playing different competing loud live music up the hill?! Life would become unbearable!

7. We are concerned by the owner's response to complaints about the level of noise created by the music. We have read online some very nasty comments from the owners who do not seem to care or appreciate quite how loudly they are projecting the music that they play in the garden.

8. We are all in support of local businesses, and we regularly use the High Street, but their operations should be confined to the High Street or indoors like the majority do - especially with live music. Instead of creating an Airbnb let, the owners should have thought about creating more space inside for their restaurant business if that is what they truly want to develop.

7. We have no issue with noise created by customers eating in the garden. That does not carry so loudly that it can be heard inside our house. We have eaten at the restaurant ourselves and enjoyed it very much. This was before the live music was introduced and this has put us off going back. We can only imagine how loud the music must be in the garden itself when we can hear it inside our house roads away. So our issue is not with the business itself, rather the issue is solely with the very loud music being played through large speakers and amplifiers.

I am just writing to express my feeling towards a cafe/restaurant - music venue, known as the Ivy's of Hythe.

It has come to my attention that complaints have been made regarding this considerably new, fresh and prominent establishment - due to noise. The Ivys of Hythe are offering subtle live music every weekend whilst customers enjoy the great food and atmosphere that the place has to offer.

It would be a terrible shame for a place that has settled into the high street so well to be restricted. It is a very popular place and I for one love going there regularly, it brings a new vibrant feel to the town.

I am hoping that the licensing issue can be resolved in a way that does not affect the company. The music is what Ivy's is well known for, so to take it away would be catastrophic.

We have been using Ivy's of Hythe very regularly since it opened its doors and think that it is an absolutely great venue for food and some live music.

As far as my experience is the licence for music is extremely important to what is now a well established and popular restaurant in Hythe community. I for one would be very upset not to be able to enjoy what Ivy's has to offer ie: beautiful garden/music, food, which must have taken an awful lot of hard work.

This venue is the reason myself and my family visit Hythe so often. I have never witnessed a late night or a noisy/disruptive time and could not understand the reasoning behind taking/limiting somebody's livelihood when it is such a popular and successful place. I would go as far as to say it would deter us and others from shopping in Hythe as often as we do.

I would like to offer some words of support towards Ivys of Hythe, High Street, Hythe.

I have visited this premises as a customer at varying times/days and it is obvious that the owners have invested a lot of money and time in bringing this premise to our predominantly independent business High Street and want to make it work.

I suspect that it may be very hard for a business to operate financially relying only on the small indoor seating area all year, so the extra opportunities and diversification where possible should be supported to keep the business viable.

The addition of low key Live music and special menu evenings are a fantastic contribution to our community for locals and visitors alike. It is also a great venue for local talented musicians to be able to work.

Hythe in general isn't a 'rowdy area' and Ivy's does not attract a 'troublesome clientele', it all appears to me to be tastefully and respectfully done.

I hope I will be visiting Ivys for a long time and that others continue to support businesses just like this one, encouraging others to try something a little different in our area and contribute towards making our local economy to grow.

Please renew the licence at Ivys in Hythe High Street, they have brought an incredible asset to the High Street with their food, live music (which is very considerate to the local environment) starting and stopping at appropriate times. An Air B&B that brings tourism to the area and livens up this end of the high Street, bearing in mind the only other pub/ live music venue, the globe has now closed.

Do not think that Hythe is a place that is ruled by the older generation because for the High Street to survive, it has to cater for a younger generation and that is Ivys.

To restrict what it has to offer would be to restrict the people of Hythe to a fantastic and supportive environment where people can gather.

Having attended a number of Ivy's live music events, I have been impressed with how carefully they have managed their permitted hours of operation in the garden.

They have punctiliously complied with existing restrictions, stopped serving outside prior to ending any music and politely but firmly shepherded guests either down to their indoor area or simply out, usually reminding clients leaving their premises to be respectful of neighbours.

I appreciate that, were I to be an immediate neighbour I may be less sanguine, but I don't believe that, over the last 50 years, I have ever encountered more courteous management of the interests of people living adjacent/close licensed premises by a licensee.

I have enjoyed summer evenings with enjoyable live music on many occasions and am honestly shocked that anyone would actually ever complain? The music is delightful, soft and enjoyable and I myself have witnessed the staff adhere to the strict rules of all customers be out of the garden on or before 10pm.

I would strongly oppose to Ivy's having their licence revoked, this would be such a shame for Hythe and people who are still enjoying life.

I wish to share my views on the much loved "Ivy's of Hythe".

I have lived in Hythe all my life and have seen many changes in the high street. When Ivy's opened I felt it was a great asset to the town, serving great fresh food with a lovely atmosphere and friendly and obliging staff.

Ivys has been lovingly restored, including the rear garden area, an amazing transformation creating a stunning outdoor space to enjoy alfresco dining, something that my partner and I have enjoyed many times.

We enjoyed lovely dulcet tones of various musical artists while dining.

The staff and management were always aware that rules were in place, these were adhered to strictly, the music finished by the time set out and the garden cleared by 10pm, we were able to finish our drinks inside Ivy's. Staff and management were extremely keen to respect their neighbours, explaining to us why we were moved inside Ivy's.

As we all know high streets these days are dying, having Ivy's, brings customers back into Hythe and when Ivy's close of an evening, I have noticed their customers will go on to other establishments in Hythe being an asset to other businesses.

Living in Hythe for 60years I do know how some residents will never accept change, this is a ridiculous and very narrow minded selfish view. This is an extremely tough time for businesses and they should be supported. I think these residents would only be happy when we have a ghost town, and all the shops will just be empty rundown shells.

And remember we are only talking a small window when the weather is kind enough for us to enjoy outside space.

That's why this is completely unfounded and maybe these residents should try to enjoy something that has brought great enjoyment to many others.

I am writing this email on behalf of myself Mrs Jacqueline Dunlop and Maxwell Dunlop, the parents of William Dunlop. We just wanted to let you know our opinions about Ivy's of Hythe, incidentally named after William's Grandmother as we are obviously very concerned about his welfare, and the considerable amount time and work he has put in to make it so nice.

We are both in our 70s, Maxwell has Parkinson's and I have cancer, but we have spent many lovely afternoons sitting in the garden there, the staff are so good and caring to us. We have met many older people in the garden there, some live in the flats and the back of Ivy's, and they have no gardens of their own, and lots of parents with young children who find being in the garden with kids is a lot easier than inside.

We have also been there several times in the early evening for dinner especially on the few occasions when there has been a guitarist which we find very enjoyable and all finished by 8.30.

Also a lot if people bring their dogs to the garden which is really nice.

I find it really hard to understand why people would complain about the garden, would they rather a wilderness there as it was before, maybe they should try it out, some people are prolific complainers.

A popular place like Ivy's ultimately brings a lot of trade into Hythe but some of the residents won't like that either.
